NEVADA CITY —

Sportmen's Paradise

WHERE, WHEN and HOW THEY'RE BITING
and Other Sportsmen's Items

Although only one person fishing lower Scott's Flat took a limit Tuesday there were several other good catches. Young Larry Parsons landed three nice Rainbows, all of them well over ten inches in length and one 14 incher while his father, Wally, of Long John's Tavern, only managed to bring in one and it wasn't large enough to compete with his son's largest fish. Dad wasn't skunked but it was mighty close.

Edna Kuntz of Nevada City took a limit of Rainbows out of the same lake that afternoon while her husband, Francis, and four other male fish enthusiasts cast along side of her and at the very best had one or two strikes but netted no fish.

On upper Scotts Flat lake during the past week five nice Rainbows were caught trolling by Leo and Ida Cullen of Nevada City Electric one of which measured a little better than 15 inches.

On a trip from Mill Valley the Fred Houstons visited Nevada City and Fred caught a couple of 12-inch Eastern Brook while Rita Clifford Cartwright landed an Eastern Brook and a Rainbow of equal size and her husband, Jack, netted a 12½-inch Rainbow. These were caught from the banks of the lake.

The Upper Scotts Flat lake waters have been reported exceedingly warm while the lower lake is cold, which fisherman claim accounts to great extent for the better catches on the lower lake.

One the eve of California's first 1949 deer season opening, the division of fish and game has some good advice to impart to half a million hunters.

It comes from Joseph S. Hunter, chief of the bureau of game conservation. In his 42 years of state fish and game service, Hunter has seen many deaths and injuries caused by carelessness with firearms in the field.

Although California led the nation in the number of hunter deaths and accidents during the last two years, the veteran conservationist believes that 90 per cent of such mishaps are preventable. He blamed "sheer stupidity and rank carelessness" for most of the 89 hunting accidents of 1948.

The "10 commandments of safety" should be known and practiced by every nimrod, Hunter believes, if the tragic death toll afield is to be checked. They are:

Treat every gun with the respect due a loaded gun.

Carry only empty guns, taken down or with the action open, into your automobile, camp or home.

Always be sure that the barrel and action are clear of obstructions.

Always carry your gun so that you can control the direction of the muzzle, even if you stumble.

Be sure of your target before you shoot.

Never point a gun at anything you do not want to shoot.

Never leave your gun unattended unless you unload it first.

Never climb a tree or fence with a loaded gun.

Never shoot at a flat, hard surface or the surface of water.

Do not mix gunpower and alcohol.

And to the list of 10 do's and don't's, Hunter adds two of his own: Never snap triggers unless certain the gun is unloaded; and never lean a gun where it can be knocked down.

California hunters will set out one-half hour before sunrise, Sunday, Aug. 7, to open the first half of the 1949 deer season.

The division of fish and game reports a bag limit of two bucks will be legal in the central and south coastal aseas, except San Diego county, until one-half hour after sunset, Sept. 15. Open season in the balance of the State, extends from Sept. 16 to Oct. 15.

The two coastal areas include the counties of Mendocino, Lake, Glenn, Colusa, Yolo, Napa, Solano, Sonoma, Marin, Contra Costa, Alameda, San Mateo, Santa Clara, San Benito, Monterey, San Luis Obispo, Santa Barbara, Ventura, Los Angeles, and Orange, and westerly portions of San Joaquin, Stanislaus, Merced, Fresno, Kings, Kern, and Riverside counties.

Bow and arrow hunters who have not taken part in the special 10-day archery season which ends in the coastal areas August 3, may get their shots during the regular firearms season. Hunting licenses and deer tags are required of all hunters.

Last year's record total of 300,000 hunters is expected to be exceeded this year, according to the bureau of licenses. Official and semi-official estimates place the current state deer population somewhere between 650,000 and 1,250,000.

Bureau of game conservation tag returns records show the annual take of deer in California has been climbing during the last several decades to reach a high of 47,900 in 1948. Restrictive regulations initiated by the legislature and the fish and game commission, in combination with intensified deer management practices is credited with producing the increasing deer populations.

Two from Grass Valley, C. P. Dancer and Hobart R. Smith, were among the 500 persons whose names were drawn for eligibility to seek a permit to hunt antelope in the northeast part of the state next month. No one from Nevada City was among the lucky applicants.

The California division of fish and game has announced completion of its first successful large-scale planting of fish from an airplane.

In a recent four-day period, 185,000 rainbow and eastern brook trout were dropped in 30

SECOND SUIT FILED AGAINST NEVADA CITY

Another suit in which Nevada City was named as co-defendant with property owners and operators of a local business was on file in the Nevada county clerk's office yesterday in which John Hampton Lashbaugh, mining engineer, seeks to collect damages totalling $22,875.

The complaint seeks damages for injuries allegedly sustained when Lashbaugh slipped and fell on icy sidewalks in front of Long John's tavern on the lower slope of Broad Street Jan. 21, 1949.

The action names Walter H. Parsons and his wife and Lee H. Kafer and his wife operators of Long John's Tavern and Marie Tognarelli, owner of the building, as co-defendants with Nevada City.

The complaint filed by Attorney Albert L. Johnson, who also filed a similar action last week for H. S. Foreman against Nevada City and the Union hotel, charges negligence of all the defendants in not keping the sidewalk free of ice and snow and charges that the slippery condition which resulted made the sidewalk hazardous and dangerous as a public thoroughfare.

Lashbaugh alleges that he sustained injuries to his right knee which have made him bedridden for long periods of time and has resulted in a permanent lameness so that he is unable to continue pursuit of his vocation of mining engineer.

He seeks $15,000 general damages, $7,000 damages for seven months loss of time as an engineer and $875 for medical costs, including X-rays and treatments.

In the suit against the Union hotel and Nevada City H. S. Foreman, Nevada City businessman, sought $31,000 damages for injuries his wife, Hazel, allegedly sustained when she fell on a questioned right-of-way in front of the hotel Oct. 18, 1948. City Attorney John Larue yesterday filed a demurrer to the Foreman suit on the grounds that the plaintiff did not file a verified claim against the city within 90 days after the accident.

SEARLS THINKS SOUTH AFRICA TO HIKE GOLD

Fred Searls Jr., president of the Newmont Mining Co., New York, in his testimony before the U. S. senate banking and currency committee in Washington May 6, stated it was his belief that South Africa will raise its price of gold, and that the establishment of a free gold market would be of great benefit to Europe and the U. S.

Searls' testimony:

Although I would like to do so, I may not be able to convince this committee of my position as an entirely impartial witness. For that reason I would like to give just a little of my own background. As they say in the West, I was born in a crosscut and cut my teeth on a candlestick.

I started panning gold out of the hydraulic tailings when I was 7 years old, to buy my own licorice and shotgun shells. And after World War I when I came back and wanted to get married, I looked around and I found a pocket in an old mine that had $200,000 in it.

In spite of that, I would like to say that in my own opinion at at least, I can view this question of a free market for gold objectively.

I was in an influential position in the War Production Board when WLB Order L-208 was proposed. I did not oppose it, although I was skeptical as to its benefits and effect. I have never supported bills for the repayment of losses which gold-mining companies suffered by reason of L-208, although such bills have been presented. I do not believe in gold subsidies.

If I did not think that the establishment of a free gold market was of great benefit to Europe particularly and also the United States, I would not be here, testifying in its behalf.

As you all know, L-208 was passed Oct. 8, 1942, or became effective that day, and it was in effect until July 1, 1945. I would like to present for the record a few statistics as to what that did to the gold-mining industry, and I will state only that as of 1941 production of gold was 4,070,000 ounces; in 1943 it was 681,000 ounces; and in 1946 it had recovered only to 1,212,000 ounces.

When I speak of this gold production, I speak of production from efforts which are instituted

TWO CATTLE RUSTLERS HELD FOR CALIFORNIA YOUTH AUTHORITY

Arrested on charges of rustling cattle for allegedly shooting a calf with a Thompson submachinegun, Wellington Smith Lathrop, 20, and Donald Edward Phillips, 19, both of the Ruby Mine district, pleaded guilty yesterday to grand theft charges and were ordered turned over to the California Youth Authority by Superior Judge Raymond McIntosh of Sierra County.

Phillips and Lathrop were arrested in the vicinity of the Ruby Mine by Sierra Sheriff Dewey Johnson after the disappearance of a calf was traced to the pair. Hidden in the mine entrance the sheriff found the sub-machinegun used to slaughter the calf, he reported.

When first arrested the pair were booked at the Nevada County jail for Sierra County officers and later removed to Downieville for hearing before the justice of the peace who ordered them held for superior court trial. When the two appeared before Superior Judge McIntosh in Downieville they immediately pleaded guilty and were ordered transferred to custody of the Youth Authority.

Charges of grand theft—auto against Richard Cooper were dismissed this week in Grass Valley by Justice of Peace Charles Morehouse when the owner of the automobile involved refused to prosecute, according to Nevada County Sheriff's office reports.

Russia Is at War With Us!

Shooting Would Put Conflict on All-Out Phase

With this issue of The Nugget Col. James C. Crockett, U. S. A., Retired, now a resident of Nevada county, starts an exclusive series of articles dealing with the vital problems of relations between the Union of Socialist Soviet Republics and the U. S.

Col. Crockett is fully qualified to answer many of the questions that are hidden behind the Iron Curtain. The retired army officer served four years as military attache at the U. S. embassy in Moscow, returning to this country only recently. He was military intelligence officer for the U. S. army in Moscow during the last year of the second episode of world-wide warfare. He is well aware of the Kremlin's precepts and long-range objectives.

Col. Crockett will answer the important questions of today—questions which are alarming the American people—with his personal experience and first-hand knowledge of Russia. The colonel is one of the few men in the U. S. today who can write with authenticity on the Russian problem. The colonel will tell you why the dictatorship of the U. S. S. R. is more dangerous today than the Nazi threat of 10 years ago.

By JAMES C. CROCKETT, Col., U. S. A., Ret.

During four years, 1944-1948, with the American embassy in Moscow I watched the Russian Communist government wage psychological war against the Capitalist world and prepare her armed forces for a shooting war.

The idealogical and diplomatic struggle which continued through those years and is still raging has won for Russia control over vast areas in Asia and Europe.

Col. James C. Crockett

The struggle has been guided by a doctrine which follows the exact teachings of the great Russian General Staff School.

The school, the Voroshilov Higher Military Academy, in Moscow, bases its teachings on the words of Lenin who said, "The existence of the Soviet Republic side by side with imperialistic states, for a long time, is unthinkable. One or the other must triumph in the end. And before that end supervenes a series of frightful collisions between the Soviet Republic and the Bourgeous states will be inevitable."

Accepting this statement of Lenin's as true the General Staff school teaches the Russian higher commanders the doctrine of total war, a doctrine which was originally taken from the German General Staff Schoo' (Kriegsakademie) where I was a student for two years (1935-1936).

When I went to Russia I was greatly surprised to find the military training and doctrine of the Russians was practically the same as that of Nazi Germany. The Russians have merely expanded and shaped the German doctrine to suit the needs of the Communist regime.

To the Russians, war is continuous between the Communist and capitalist states. In this war propaganda, politics, diplomacy, infiltration, confusion, economy, and psychology play a part. A shooting war is only a phase of this total war.

The Russians have geared the whole Soviet state to this doctrine of total war.

The government, the state economy, the psychological, scientific and military training, the educational system and the propaganda agencies are all organized for the total and continuous conduct of war.

The Russian officers are taught that the purpose of this war is the destruction of the enemy's will to resist, and that this purpose can be achieved by defeat of the enemy's armed forces, by economic strangulation or by psychological domination.

The Russian officers are told that sometimes it is necessary to use all three of these methods of warfare, but that armed conflict is the most uncertain and expensive method and should be used only if economic and psychological warfare fail.

Despite strong opposition Russia has had much success with psychological warfare. Her propaganda machine, the most efficient in the world, is being used day and night to poison the minds of the Russian people and their satellites against the United States. These people are told that the capitalist nations plan war and the enslavement of Russia; that the Communist system is working with great success in Russia and that the living conditions within the Soviet Union are far better than in the capitalist nations.

At the same time the Soviet propaganda machine is pouring out another stream of lies about the mistreatment of workers in the United States, their poor living conditions and the approaching economic depression which will engulf us. This propaganda together with police spying and terror, slave labor camps and the liquidation of political appointments has made it possible for Russia to extend her idealogical control over the many countries of Asia and Europe which are now behind the Iron Curtain.

At times this control appears to be shaky and uncertain but by ruthless police methods Russia is tightening her hold over these conquered countries and in time she will liquidate all open opposition to her control.

While conducting psychological war against the capitalist countries the Russian Communist bosses slowly came to the realization that the resistance of those countries could not be destroyed by this type of warfare alone. They have therefore lately reinforced their psychological attacks by economic warfare against the capitalist world. As part of this economic war Russia has been signing secret trade agreements, using surplus raw materials for political barter, exploiting economic weaknesses in capitalist countries and using her propaganda machine to support her economic warfare.

Thus by psychological and economic attack the Russians hope to break the resistance of the capitalist countries and permit their Communist allies to gain control of these countries.

The Russians do not, however, depend entirely on these two types of warfare. Since the end of World war II the Russian state has used its utmost energy to increase the war potential of the Soviet union and to prepare its armed forces and its people for a shooting war. This preparation has followed the exact pattern of Nazi preparation for war which I observed during my four years tour of duty in Hitler's Germany.

In 1947 and 1948 I watched the great columns of Russian tanks, airplanes, artillery and infantry pass in review before Stalin, standing in the Red Square of Moscow. I could not help comparing these great columns with those which I had seen march so many times in front of Hitler through the central square of Nurenmburg, Germany. Except for the uniforms the whole scene was the same. Even the Russian goose-stepping was quite similar to that of the Germans.

In my next article in The Nugget, I will tell you about the great strength and preparations of today's Russians armies.

WALKER WILL PLEAD BUS LINE CASE AT COLUSA CIVIC UNIT

Kent E. Walker, Grass Valley, president of the Nevada County Bus Line, will appear before the Colusa Chamber of Commerce today and present his side of the controversy over the proposed Colusa to Marysville bus franchise transfer.

The franchise is held by Pacific Greyhound Lines, which recently sought permission of the California public utilities commission to sell the franchise to Walker for $1.

The purchase of a new 37 passenger bus has been announced by Walker. This is the fifth piece of new equipment added to the line since Walker took it over from the Nevada Narrow Gauge Railroad company.

Safety Saves Nevada City $423, Sum Saved, Safe in City's Safe

Nevada City's treasury was enriched by $423.49 yesterday when the California State Compensation Insurance Fund turned over to the city a check for that amount as a refund on compensation insurance payments for the past 18 months.

George L. Flynn, district manager for the State Compensation Insurance Fund, said that it was Nevada City's record of safety that warranted the refund payment from the state fund.

The refund amounted to 38 per cent of the amount the city has paid in as compensation insurance for the period of time covered, he said.

solely for the production of gold, and that means from placers and dry and siliceous ores. It includes Alaska but not the Philippines. There is additional production of about 20 per cent over these figures in 1946 of what I call by-product gold, which arises from the treatment of copper and lead ores, chiefly.

As the result of always having been in the gold-mining industry, I became president and am now chairman of the Empire Star Mining Co., Ltd., which operates mines in Grass Valley that have been in continuous operation for 98 years, and where they have attained a depth of 11,000 feet on the dip of the veins, and have open and accessible, now, about 120 miles of workings.

To maintain those mines and keep them from filling with water and being ruined during L-208, we expended $2,500,000. We are still keeping them open by a leasing operation, but it is a very tough proposition, and for that reason in 1946, just before I went to Bikini I talked to Judge Vinson, who was then secretary of the treasury, and pointed out to him that in our opinion at least, the Secretary could license newly mined gold for export and proposed to him that he do so.

He considered the matter favorably, and I thought he was going to do it; but he asked me to have the matter presented in proper form as a memorandum from counsel of the company, and that was done.

Before Judge Vinson, however, could give this much consideration, and to my surprise, he was replaced as secretary of treasury by John Snyder, and when his boys got through with it why there was no favorable response.

About the only other thing we could do then was to take advantage of the treasury regulations which permit the production and sale of gold in its natural form. And I exhibit to you here—although I am sorry I cannot leave it here because it belongs to me and I paid $4,100 for it—100 ounces of fine gold in its natural state.

You cannot hold or sell gold in any other condition except in its natural state. Then the regulations go on to say that it may not be treated with mercury or acid or melted.

We sell this gold for $41 an ounce accompanied by a certificate that this container has exactly 100 ounces of fine gold, and that at any time the treasury gives permission we will melt it into bars; but if we melt it to a bar now, then we have to sell it to the treasury.

We make a small profit at $41 an ounce. It costs about $1 an ounce to put the gold in this form; but we cannot get by at $35.

I will go on to say that the sale of this kind of gold, while permitted by the treasury, is not big business. We have sold perhaps, 10,000 ounces, or less.

The reason we cannot sell more is that the buyers—and there are a good many of them—are afraid that the treasury will change the rules again.

The regulations could be changed by the secretary, and this sort of thing forbidden. It is even possible—it was done in 1934—they would ordered to bring the gold in and sell it to the Treasury for $35, notwithstanding the fact they paid $41 an ounce for it.

That is what makes this traffic difficult, and if there were a law passed permitting this traffic, not only a regulation, then I guaranty we could sell a million ounces very shortly.

The queer thing during the time the price of gold was going up, when Mr. Roosevelt raised the price of gold, the treasury regulations then permitted you—not to sell natural gold but you could sell cyanide precipitate or amalgam, which are the very things that under the present regulations you cannot sell.

We did sell several millions of dollars worth of those products in England because the price there was higher than in the United States. Now, such a situation will come about very soon again.

Whatever the United States will do, I am convinced that the Union of South Africa is going to put the gold price up. You see, here the gold ore business is a very small part, a fraction of 1 per cent, of our national income. There are now engaged in gold mining in the United States—and the type of gold mines I speak of are the mines that are engaged in the production of gold only from gold ore—only about 5,000 men. There used to be 20,000.

Of course, that is not all the employment involved; the business of gold mining leads to very much additional business improvement in the way of creation of demand for tools and all those facilities that are required in the mining of gold.

In Africa the situation is different. In Africa they mined last year 55,000,000 tons of gold ore with nothing else in it. That is more tonnage than the whole operation of the Kennecott Copper Corp. mined last year with steam shovels at all their properties including other methods, and including Utah Copper. It is twice—more than twice—as much as Phelps Dodge mined in their enormous pits in Arizona. It is within 20 per cent of as much tonnage as that produced of iron ore in the iron ranges last year. That is big business, Senators.

They cannot go ahead at the present price. The Africans have developed 700,000,000 tons of ore and a large part of it cannot be produced at the South African pound equivalent of $35.

I fully believe that because of the importance of this to the South African Government that whatever we say about it or the economists say about it, or the Monetary Fund, says about it, that that is going to come about, that is the price is going to be raised in sterling, and that is after first being raised in South pric edinlolcmfwy Wego price in dollars may be.

I think this matter which Dr. Lawrence referred to yesterday is a matter of some interest, and I would be very pleased to see this committee find out from the treasury whether actually the $80,000,000 worth of British sovereigns that the treasury assisted the oil company and the National City bank to buy from Peron was purchased at par; that is to say, at the equivalent of $35 gold plus one-fourth of 1 per cent. I am assured that was so.

But having been quite familiar Searls' testimony will be con- government with negotiations and the difficulties of dealing with the Argentinians, I think it would be a matter of interest to this committee to find out from the treasury whether actually some concession of one kind or another was paid to the Argentine for this $80,000,000 worth of gold.

I suspect, although I cannot give any grounds for it, that the government has paid to a foreign nation or permitted payment to a foreign nation of something more than $35 an ounce, although they will only pay their own citizens $35 an ounce.

Searls' Testimony will be continued in our Tuesday edition.

This sermon will be comprised of citations from the Bible and "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, among which are the following:

Deuteronomy: "Hear, O Israel: The Lord our God is one Lord: And thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thine heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy might. And these words, which I command thee this day, shall be in thine heart" (6:4-6).

Science and Health: "Not materially but spiritually we know Him as divine Mind, as Life, Truth, and Love. We shall obey and adore in proportion as we apprehend the divine nature and love Him understandingly, warring no more over the corporeality, but rejoicing in the affluence of our God" (p. 140).

North San Juan Nature Notes

By Alice G. Farnsworth

Did you know that the Joshua tree belongs to the lily family? That the rattlers on the tail of a rattlesnake do not indicate the rattler's age? That turtles, snakes, lizards, crocodiles, and alligators are all lizards? That soap-stone floats? That chalk is formed from tiny sea-shells?

These and many other interesting facts the members of the North San Juan Nature club, ably sponsored by Mrs. Evelyn Gilstrap Williams, are learning every second and fourth Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock in the North San Juan schoolhouse. Margaret McQuinn is chairman, and Mrs. Alice Kohler is secretary-treasurer.

Mrs. Williams is somewhat of a celebrity herself. For 13 years she has edited a bulletin for the Moth and Butterfly club. This bulletin reaches club members all over the world, some of whom live in Korea, England, Austria, and Japan.

At one of the meetings Mrs. Williams brought a lizard and a mouse preserved in alcohol. Neither of these creatures would have excited interest by itself, not even if the mouse had attempted to swallow the lizard. But here was a lizard that had tried to swallow a mouse. The mouse got stuck half way down the lizard's throat, and it may have experienced some sweet revenge in knowing it had choked the lizard to death.

The last meeting terminated with a scramble down a clay diggings so steep it was more like an inclined plane than a cliff. One member, slipping and sliding down the loose clay, handed in her resignation on the spot; but the next moment, seated among grass and tall trees, she reconsidered, and is still a member.

The next meeting will take place on August 10.

The Nature club of North San Juan will present motion pictures at the North San Juan schoolhouse, 8 p.m. Tuesday, August 2. No admission will be charged, but you can put what you like into the collection box.

Washington Notes

By Congressman Clair Engle

HOUSE REJECTS BRANNAN PLAN

The so-called Brannan plan took a terrific licking in the house last week.

The entire Brannan plan was not before congress but a "trial run" was under consideration on three commodities, potatoes, eggs and shorn wool. Most members could not see any good reason for experimenting with part of a program they were against.

There were three propositions before the house. First, the Aiken law passed in the last hours of the 80th congress which would take effect unless something was done before Jan. 5, 1950. The principal objection to this law was that it provides a flexible farm price support system ranging from 60 per cent to 90 per cent of parity. Its opponents said that you could not support the roof of a house with flexible 2x4's. Further, they complained it gave too much power to the Secretary of Agriculture.

Secondly, we had the present law which calls for support at 90 per cent of parity. Exhibit A against this law is the potato fiasco which has cost the American taxpayer about $425,000,000. The present law will end Jan. 1 and the Aiken law substitute unless something is done by congress.

FARM GROUPS OPPOSE PROGRAM

The third proposition was the so-called "trial run" of the Brannan plan. The basic principle of the Brannan plan differs from the present law in this respect: Under the present law farm prices are supported in the open market by government purchases and loans while under the Brannan plan the prices would not be supported but would be permitted to fall to whatever level the market would bring and then the government would pay direct to the farmer the difference between the price received by the producer and what the government thought the producer ought to get, arrived at according to a formula. In short, if you sold a dozen eggs you would get a receipt from the purchaser showing the purchase prcie and then take the receipt to a government agency and get the difference between what you were paid and what the Brannan program called for.

Many of the farm representatives were afraid of this program because farm prices would drop, consumers would get used to low prices, and then if the government got into financial trouble (and it appears that it may) and couldn't appropriate the money the farmer would be stuck. Moreover, the consumer would be used to very low prices and vigorously resist any readjustment.

PRESENT PLAN EXTENDED

The Gore amendment which was adopted by the house proposed to extend the present system for another year in order to give further study to what should be done about the dilemma. Gore's amendment was vigorously supported by practically all of the Republicans and a large number of Democrats, largely those from the south and from northern rural areas. The Democratic opposition in this instance was not confined to the so-called Dixiecrats but included a good many others who normally go along wtih the Administration's program.

Most Democrats on the agricultural committee supported the Brannan proposal and most of the rest of the votes for it came from the metropolitan Democrats who saw a chance to get lower consumer prices for the city people they represent.

PROBLEM STILL CONFRONTS CONGRESS

For a good many of us the present action of the house, if followed by senate action, will not be a final solution of the problem. The present program has worked quite badly in some instances, notably potatoes and eggs. However, the potato program will be in better shape this year because the government has learned more about controlling production. Heretofore acreage controls have been put into effect and the farmers planted their rows closer together and fertilized and raised more potatoes than ever. With experience, the production controls are working better. However, the basic thing the farmer will have to realize is that government subsidies and government control are Siamese twins.

When the government supports a price by subsidies, whether it is done under the present formula or the Brannan formula, there is going to be rigid government control on production. An additional criticism of the present system is that by and large it makes no provision for perishables. Some of us think that crops which are as basic in California as wheat and corn is to the middle west and cotton is to the south are just as much entitled to government price supports as the producers of those present so-called basic commodities. We are a long way from having arrived at a permanent farm program. The action last week in the house only puts off the day when we have to make a decision as to what the program will finally be.

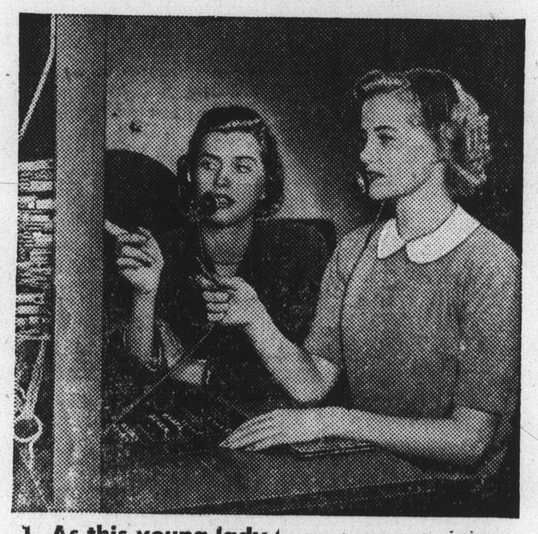
WHERE THE SPIRIT OF SERVICE BEGINS

One Coast-wide school system is for telephone people only—and better service for the West is the result



1. As this young lady learns to use a training switchboard, she'll also learn many things that will be mighty important to good service. All through her training she'll see how operators make courtesy and helpfulness a normal part of their jobs. And the same spirit is present as other telephone people learn their new skills.

2. On stubby poles like these, linemen learn to use their new climbing equipment. This is just one of the more than one hundred courses that telephone people study in towns large and small—up and down the Coast. In 1948, thousands of employees received training. That means thousands of men and women better able to furnish good service to you.

3. On-the-job-training here in the West is typified by this "student" who is learning the workings of a trouble indicator frame—an automatic detective that constantly makes sure the lines on its "beat" are giving good service. Even experienced employees take refresher courses like this to keep up-to-date . . . and keep learning their way up the ladder.

4. Good service for you comes from telephone people who know their jobs. You can help them serve you best by making sure you always have the right number in mind before calling, leaving a little time between calls, giving the called person time to answer.

BARBECUE FEED WILL PRECEDE TRUCKEE GAME

Residents of Nevada City are invited to attend the barbecue Sunday at the Truckee baseball park where arrangements are being made to entertain and feed upwards of 800 people. The affair is being arranged as a benefit for the Truckee Mountaineers of the Placer-Nevada league and all funds received will go to relieve the financial embarrassment of the club.

Immediately following the barbecue, which will start at 10:30 o'clock Sunday morning and conclude shortly after 2 p.m., the Mountaineers will meet the Nevada City team in a reguiar scheduled baseball game at the field.

Home-cooked food, featuring baked beans, salads, cakes and other items will be served. All the food is being contributed by the housewives of Truckee and Tahoe, with Mrs. R. N. Little and Mrs. N. F. Dolley making the arrangements and preparing the menu.

The public is invited and adults will be charged $1.25 while children under 14 will be served for 75 cents a plate.

A special invitation is being extended county officials and their families, few of whom have had an opportunity to visit the local park or see the Truckee team in action. A large following of fans is expected from Nevada City for the occasion.

Nevada City's Athletics will journey to Truckee this Sunday to battle the Truckee nine at that city's ball park on Sunday afternoon with Manager Marvin Haddy starting the same lineup as last Sunday.

Goldsberry is slated for mound duty when the game opens with Short and Valdon calling them. The team leaves from the Shell Station at the Plaza at 10 a.m.

Grass Valley

Five bids to purchase Grass Valley sewer bond issue, 11 bids for construction of a sewage disposal treatment plant, and six bids for construction of an outfall sewer system were opened Tuesday evening by the city council in a jam-packed meeting.

The Bank of America was awarded the bond purchase at a noon meeting Wednesday by the council. Its interest offer was 2¾ and 2½ per cent and $829 premium.

The city council will hold an adjourned meeting Tuesday to announce the city's decision on the construction bids. Low bidder on the treatment plant was KE-Ston Construction company, Maywood, $229,300. Ted Bares Construction company, Oakland, with a bid of $140,457.70 was low for an outfall system.

PLANNING COMMISSION WILL HEAR REPORTS ON AMPHITHEATER

Nevada City planning commission will hear testimony for improvements in Pioneer park Monday night at 8 in city hall.

The meeting has been called by J. F. Siegfried, chairman, who said the meeting had been arranged to hear proposals for an amphitheater at the park.

Frank Stewart, active in dramatic activities in the community, represents the group which has asked for the building of new facilities for staging plays and musical events.

BUILD NEVADA COUNTY

PLACERVILLE-NEVADA CITY MERCHANTS TO BATTLE HERE SUNDAY

Nevada City Merchants, who won three out of their last four games and only lost that one to Foresthill in a ten inning stretch, faces a tough assignment Sunday when Placerville's nine comes to Nevada City to play at Pioneer Park at 2:30 p.m.

After a three game winning streak the local sluggers had the game with Foresthill won when the Foresthillers lowered the boom in the ninth to tie up the score 6-6. In the extra inning the the Foresthill lads drove in two runs to win.

When the Merchants last played Placerville, June 19th, they lost 17-5 but as base-line prognasticators are pointing out now there is a difference. When Placerville humbled the locals last month the Merchants didn't have Dick Penrose on mound duty and Sunday Manager Ralph Childers will start him in the hurling spot.

It all points to a tough battle but if Penrose can hold down the visitors the Merchants slugging sextet composed of Larsen, Hill, Rushing, Childers, Tobiassen and Pitcher Penrose is given a good chance to humble the visitors.

SPORTSMEN'S PARADISE

Siskiyou county lakes, many of which were previously considered inaccessible to state fish planting crews.

Flying at elevations from 400 to 600 feet off the water, Warden-Pilot Al Reese in the division's twin-motored Beechcraft plane made the delivery runs, which left the fish in excellent condition, according to ground observers. Approximately 15,000 fish, averaging two and a half inches in length, were carried on each trip.

The operation was supervised by District Biologist J. H. Wales. Fingerling trout were provided by the Mount Shasta hatchery.

The bureau of fish conservation has been experimenting with aerial fish planting since 1947, but stocking of high elevration lakes was considered hazardous until recent acquisition of the war surplus cargo plane. Next planting has been scheduled for the first week in August in lakes of Inyo and Mono counties.

PAIR INJURED WHEN AUTO PLUNGES OFF ROAD ARE IMPROVED

Two men who were injured when the automobile in which they were riding plunged off a sharp turn on the Bear Valley grade early Wednesday morning are improving, according to Nevada county hospital reports.

One of the men, Clement Kersanac, 48, of Truckee, received a possible fractured back and internal injuries when he was pinned under the auto, while the driver, James W. Hunter, 26, a PG&E employe at Soda Springs, received cuts and bruises and is being held at the hospital for observation.

Kersanac was caught beneath the machine when it rolled over after failing to negotiate the sharp turn at too high a rate of speed, according to California Highway Patrol reports.

Hunter managed to crawl from the wreckage and climb to the highway where he caught a ride with an early morning motorist and obtained a wrecker from the Plaza Garage in Nevada City.

S. R. Dahl, whose Plaza Garage Wrecker lifted the machine so that Kersanac could be removed to the hospital, said the auto was a total loss having plunged down a steep embankment in its wild gyrations after swerving off the road.

Ed Rosell, Hills Flat, was ordered held for trial in Nevada County Superior Court yesterday when he appeared before Justice of Peace Charles Morehouse of Grass Valley on charges of selling machinery which did not belong to him. His arraignment in the higher court has not as yet been set.

LOCAL HIGH SCHOOL PUPIL INJURED BY THROW FROM HORSE

Joan Oje, 18, daughter of Mrs. A. W. Williams, Railroad avenue, is recovering from injuries she suffered Tuesday when thrown from her horse in front of the Williams home, Grass Valley.

Miss Oje, a member of Rainbow Girls, and a junior at Nevada City high school, sustained a deep cut on her forehead and back injuries when she fell from the horse as it turned abruptly into the yard.

She is at the Jones memorial hospital.

Captain L. F. Oje, her father, of Fort Meade, Md., visiting here, is expected to remain here until Miss Oje is able to return from the hospital.

FLIER'S IDENTIFICATION AWAITS RELATIVES, WAR DEPARTMENT RECORDS

Although tentatively identified as the skeleton of Corp. Bernard Walner, 20-year-old missing air force enlisted man from Los Angeles, the scattered bones of a man brought in from Buzzard's Roost near Cisco Grove still awaited positive identification yesterday.

Coroner Alvah Cooper has sought aid from the medical records of the War Department and B. B. Burton, Los Angeles chain store operator, whose nephew, Corporal Walner was one of two missing fliers, who crashed in the high Sierras February 22, 1946 after taking off in a private plane for a flight from Napa County airport to Reno Nevada.

The body of the other missing flier, Pfc. Kurowski of Hamilton Field, was found near the wreckage of the plane in July of 1946 by a cattleman. An extensive aerial and ground search failed to turn up the body of his companion until Reginald Peacock, Auburn fisherman, stumbled across the skeleton scattered over the ground at the foot of Old Man Mountain last Sunday.

Deputy Sheriff John Blackburn, who together with Coroner Cooper and Peacock brought out the skeleton, said the bones were fairly well scattered but the main part of the skeleton was under a rock lip at the base of the mountain.
